TRACTION MEN VISIT THE CITY

Nineteen Interurban Representatives
View Exhibition of Dispatchers'
Block Signal System.

CAME HERE IN SPECIAL CAR

Opinion is Expressed, Judging From Test, That Plan Will Prove Very Practical

The I. & C. special car carrying nineteen representatives of traction lines from all over Indiana and two members of the Indiana railroad commission, arrived here shortly before three o'clock to inspect the dispatchers' block signal system which has been installed on this division of the I. & C. After the inspection of the workings of the semaphore at the car barns, the members of the party were taken on a tour of inspection by President Charles Henry over the car barns and power house.

Few members of the party expressed any opinion on the new system. What few ideas that were heard were to the effect that the system appeared to be very satisfactory. M. E. Graston, general manager of the Honey Bee, which runs between New Castle and Indianapolis said: "I believe that this system will solve the problem for us weaker lines. To me it appears to be very satisfactory and the best factor about it is the fact that it is very cheap. It will no doubt solve the problem for Indiana traction lines."

When the party arrived here, the semaphore was set in action from the dispatcher's office at the junction. It worked perfectly. The large red arm is thrown out which means danger to any crew and that the car must be stopped. The arm can not be set back in place until orders come from the dispatcher's office to that effect. In case the system is installed, a semaphore will be installed at every siding on the divisions of the road.

On the trip down here, the special car was stopped at the junction for an exhibition of the selector, which is located in the dispatcher's office. By removing a key in the selector, the dispatcher can reach any point on the road where a telephone is located. This will do away with the necessity of having a certain number of rings for each phone and the ringing of all of the phones on the line in order to get one. The phone system worked well and proved conclusively that it is very practical for the purpose for which it was made.

The party included Chairman W. J. Wood and Judge McClure of the Railroad Commission of Indianapolis; H. A. Nichols, general manager, and George H. Kelsey, of the electrical department of the I. U. T. Co.; C. F. Franklin, superintendent of the Winona Lines; Alexander Shane, general manager, and L. M. Brown, superintendent, of the I. C. & S.; C. E. Morgan, general manager of the Ben Hur; M. E. Graston, general manager of the Honey Bee; E. B. Peck, vice-president, L. Boardman, superintendent, and C. H. Jefferies, general superintendent of the T. H. I. & E.; Mr. Cole, superintendent of the L. & N.; H. D. Murdock, superintendent of the I. & L., and E. B. Lincoln, general manager of the M. & P. Lon Lewis of Manilla, formerly of the Shelbyville Democrat, who is now on the Indianapolis Star, was with the party.

SO BAD AS THAT?

There is a buzzing under the hat of a former New Castle newspaper man to establish a morning daily in the "City of Roses," now becoming known throughout Hoosierdom as "The Hobo's Retreat."

TO SPEAK AT ENCAMPMENT

James E. Watson Will Give Address at Richmond Wednesday.

James E. Watson is on the program to speak at the State encampment of the G. A. R. and the Sons of Veterans at Richmond next Wednesday. It is likely that a number of Civil war veterans of this city will attend the encampment this year. It is nearer Rushville than it will probably ever be again in the life of most veterans in Rushville and Rush county. The railroad connections are convenient and it is probable that many will attend for that reason.

BICYCLE AND AUTO COLLIDE AT ALLEY

Will Lines is Thrown From Wheel
When Redman Machine Hits it
Broadside.

IS HURLED TEN FEET; UNHURT

While riding a bicycle in North Main street this morning, Will Lines, employed at the Daily Republican office, was hit by an automobile driven by Will Redman, and thrown about ten feet. He escaped injury aside from a few cuts and bruises, but his wheel was badly damaged.

Mr. Lines was riding south on the west side of Main street, when the Redman machine came east in the alley which opens into Main street on the north side of the Main Street Christian church. Thinking that the driver intended to turn into Main street, the man on the wheel veered over to the east side of the street to give the machine room to make the turn. Instead of turning, Mr. Redman drove the auto straight across the street and into the alley. The machine hit the bicycle broadside and threw the rider. Mr. Lines complains because Mr. Redman did not even stop his machine to see if he had injured anyone while the auto driver declares that he did not think he hit the bicycle.

EXERCISES HELD IN CITY SCHOOLS

J. T. Arbuckle Made Talk Before the High School This Morning Which Was Greatly Appreciated.

MOTHERS DAY IS OBSERVED

All the schools of the city observed Mothers Day with appropriate exercises today. Mothers Day is Sunday, but in accord with the State board of public instruction, it was observed today.

The Rev. J. B. Meacham spoke to the pupils of the Havens school this morning on "A Spank and a Kiss." The Rev. Mr. Meacham pleased the children with his talk which was very interesting. Prof. J. H. Scholl made a talk to the pupils of the Jackson school this afternoon, in keeping with the day. J. T. Arbuckle, who is a member of the school board, addressed the students of the high school this morning at ten o'clock. Mr. Arbuckle proved an interesting talker and his address was greatly appreciated.

THE WEATHER.

Probably fair tonight and Saturday.

KIPLINGER AS SPECIAL JUDGE

Leven Wallace Charged With Assault and Battery Tried in Circuit Court Today.

EXAMINED MANY WITNESSES

State Rests Case After Prosecuting
Witness, Lola VanSickle Had Been on Stand.

The case of the State vs. Leven Wallace occupied the attention of the Rush circuit court a large part of today, and at a late hour this afternoon the end was not in sight. The morning session was devoted to empanelling a jury. John Kiplinger is officiating as judge. Wallace is charged with assault and battery on Lola VanSickle.

The State closed its case at three o'clock, after examining a number of witnesses, among them being the prosecuting witness, Miss VanSickle. According to her testimony, the trouble started over her going behind the counter at the Windsor hotel on the night of September 17, 1910. She was employed as a waitress there at the time and resented the manner in which Mr. Wallace told her about going behind the desk. She said, that after quitting her position, that evening during the supper hour, she came back about seven o'clock after her clothes. It was then that Wallace is alleged to have struck her with a revolver.

Miss VanSickle said Wallace hit her four times in the face. The affair took place in front of the hotel and, according to her testimony, she had to be carried home.

On cross examination her story of the affair was not shaken. The defense will use self-defense as the cause of the trouble. It was shown that Miss VanSickle had been employed in a number of Rushville homes as housekeeper and the defense tried to show that she was of a quarrelsome disposition and very hard to get along with, especially if she lost her temper. Miss VanSickle denied all of this, except that she had worked a number of places.

Will Stamm, who helped take her home, knew nothing except what he had seen from across the street.

Chase Bennett testified that he saw Leven hit the woman in the face and that he did not know any of the particulars.

Robert Williams told the court that he had witnessed the fighting and saw Wallace strike her three times.

Lieut. Gov. Frank J. Hall and Will M. Sparks are attorneys for the defendant while Donald Smith, Wallace Morgan and Prosecutor O'Neil represent the State.

FINDS FOR PLAINTIFF

Jury Awards Richard and Matilda
Warrum $300 Damages.

After being out for several hours the jury in the case of Richard H. and Matilda Warrum of Hancock county against Crawford Fairbanks and the Southern Indiana Gas Company last evening returned a verdict awarding the plaintiff damages in the sum of three hundred dollars. The suit was the result of a dispute over land leases and was sent here from Hancock county. Sparks & Gary of this city and Tindall & Tindall of Greenfield represented the plaintiffs, while Jos. E. Bell and Jackson & Sample of Greenfield were attorneys for the defendant. The suit was for six hundred dollars.

WILL ENDORSE J. H. WILLIAMS

Meeting Will be Held at the Main Street Christian Church Tuesday Night For That Purpose.

GOES TO WORK IN NEW FIELD

The Rev. Isaac J. Lansing, Secretary of International Reform Bureau,
Will Make Address.

A meeting in the nature of an endorsement of Prof. J. H. Williams of the Washington school, who will speak in Texas this summer under the direction of the International Reform Bureau, will be held at the Main Street Christian church Tuesday evening. James E. Watson will preside and will make a short address. The Rev. Isaac J. Lansing, D. D., general secretary of the International Bureau of Reform, will make the chief address of the evening. B. F. Miller will sing a solo and other special music is being arranged. The meeting will be started promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Mr. Lansing will speak on the subject, "The Conservation of Humanity." He is known as speaker of note and will no doubt please and instruct. Marion Lawrence, secretary of the International Sunday School Association, has said concerning him: "I am personally acquainted with Rev. I. J. Lansing, a man with a message which is delivered in a forceful, clear, concise manner, and with a warmth and earnestness that speak of a tremendous conviction. He is one of the most convincing speakers I ever heard, pleasing in his manner, refined in his diction, forceful in expression and warm of heart. He not only pleases his audiences but transfers his conviction of them, and lays a good foundation for future action."

It may be remembered that it was announced a few weeks ago that Prof. Williams had been employed to speak among his own people in the southern states this summer. As an orator and eloquent speaker who never lacks for words and phrases to paint beautiful word scenes and to describe and narrate, he needs no introduction to Rushville people as has often been heard in public here. The call which he has received comes as a very great honor to the local colored man even though he is deserving of it.

The greatest fault to be found with the arrangement is the fact that Prof. Williams may be lost to the Rushville public schools. He will be sent to Texas this summer to talk temperance among the colored people, and if he is successful, which he will no doubt be, he will be employed permanently. Concerning the employment of the local man, a paper issued by the bureau says:

Prof. James R. Williams, Principal of the colored schools of Rushville, Ind., one of the most eloquent sons of a State famous for eloquence and

FISHING SEASON IS ON

Slaughter of Innocent Fishing Worms
Has Been Terrible.

The fishing season is certainly at hand. Every day sees the river and neighboring creeks lined with fishermen and the men who make fishing a business are also in the game. Hundreds of trout lines cross the river and some big hauls are being made in this manner. Local dealers report a big business in fishing tackle and the slaughter of "fishin' worms" is something terrible.

poetry, a sane and scholarly orator, has been appointed Honorary Secretary of the International Reform Bureau, and will speak on moral reforms to his people and to the general public on Sundays and during vacations until a fund can be raised to employ all his time. Florida would probably have won statewide prohibition if such a man had been sent through the State to educate the colored voters on this subject. It might save the day in Texas to send him there at once for daily meetings until the vote on statewide prohibition. By that time other States will want him. The colored people need such a scholarly and eloquent leader. He can not depend on collections as other temperance lectures usually do, because his people are so poor. Both salary and expenses should be provided in advance, including literature especially prepared for colored people, to be distributed after his lectures as seed in a well-ploughed field.

GRAND OFFICERS WILL BE PRESENT

Grand Commander and Grand Recorder, Knights Templar to Attend Ascension Day Services.

LOCAL KNIGHTS PLAN TO GO

The Knights Templars of Greenfield, New Castle and this city have accepted invitations to observe Ascension Sunday, May 21, as guests of Knightstown Commandery, Knights Templar. The service will be held in the Methodist church and the sermon will be by the Rev. Demetrius Tilton, pastor of the M. E. church at Lafayette, who is grand prelate of the grand commandery of Indiana. Eminent Grand Commander, John L. Rupe of Richmond; Grand Recorder Calvin Prather of Indianapolis, and other grand officers and several past eminent grand commanders will be present. A choir of forty children from the Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' home will furnish music.

CUT BONES OUT OF DISLOCATED ANKLE

Physicians Find it Necessary to Perform Operation on Charles Gates of Carthage.

WAS INJURED IN A RUNAWAY

Although it is not believed that it will be necessary to amputate Charles Gates' foot and ankle, it is very likely that he will be permanently crippled as the result of the runaway east of Carthage one day this week. He was taken to the Methodist hospital in Indianapolis after two Carthage physicians, one Knightstown doctor and a specialist from Indianapolis were unable to determine on what plan to pursue. It was thought that a ligament had been wrapped around the ankle bone which caused the greatest difficulty. After the investigation at the Methodist hospital it was found that the ankle had been badly dislocated and that it was necessary to open the joint in order to reduce the dislocation. During the operation two small bones were removed from his ankle. They were badly fractured and could not be set.

All far east customers of the United States in the eight months ended February, 1911, bought more goods than in the preceding similar period.

GOSSIPS WORRY HER VERY MUCH

Anna E. Shaw of Clarksburg Wants
Announcement of Her Divorce

"Put in the Paper."

SAYS "THEY" TALK ABOUT HER

She is Having More Trouble Than
She Did as a Married Woman.

Anna E. Shaw of 224 West Washington street, Greensburg, formerly of Clarksburg, is the victim of gossips. Mrs. Shaw wants it published broadcast over the land that she was granted a divorce from her husband in the Rush circuit court on Saturday, April 29, so that the people will stop talking. She has written her attorney here and asked that he "put it in the papers."

It was duly noted in the Rushville newspapers when the divorce was granted, but it seems that the Greensburg papers failed to make mention of it. At any rate Mrs. Shaw says that Greensburg people are inclined to believe that she does not have a divorce and that she has to act like "a perfect lady" else the gossips will whisper naughty things about her.

Mrs. Shaw is very much frustrated. She is finding life even more unbearable than it was when she was married, which was bad enough, according to her testimony in the circuit court here. In her letter to her attorney here, she says: "I drop you a note in regards to that divorce case of my, so many round here argues that it was not granted, they say if it was it would be in the papers what about it rite and tell me if it is all right for lord sake and mine, have it put in the papers so they will quit talking and give me a rest."

SILENT PARTNERS MUST FILE NAMES

Law of 1909 is Probably Violated by Many Business Men on Account of Ignorance.

ACT CARRIES HEAVY PENALTY

Attention has been called to a law of 1909 of which business men or firms may be ignorant, but for the violation of which a heavy penalty may be imposed. It has special reference to so-called "silent partners."

The law is as follows:

"Chapter 151 of the Acts of 1909 provides that any person or persons conducting or transacting business in this state under any name, designation of title other than the real name or names of the persons conducting or transacting such business whether individually or as a firm or partnership, shall file in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court of the county in which the place or places of business or office or offices of any person, firm or partnership, may be situated, a certificate stating the full name and residence of each person engaged in or transacting such business. This act shall not apply to a corporation doing business under its true corporate name, or to any firm or co-partnership doing business under any name, designation or title which includes the true surnames, etc. The penalty for the violation of this act is any sum not more than $100.00."

GAMBLER SHOT BY CONSTABLE

Tragedy Follows Raid At Jeffersonville.

ALLEGED LOTTERY AGENT SLAIN

When Louis Rosenfield, a Louisville Lawyer, With the Reputation of a Lottery Agent on Indiana Side of River, Made a Pass Toward His Pistol Pocket During a Raid on Alleged Gambling Joint, Constable Shot.

Jeffersonville, Ind., May 12.—Louis Rosenfield, aged about fifty, whose home is in Louisville, was shot through the head and instantly killed by Constable Jacob Meredith, who had gone to arrest him on a warrant charging him with keeping a room for gambling purposes.

The shooting occurred in a shack in Howard park rented by Rosenfield from Charles Saunders, who made complaint that gambling was being conducted there. Warrants for the arrest of Rosenfield and John Doe were sworn out by George W. Kirk, a constable, and Meredith went to serve them. Several persons in the shack left and only John F. Richards of New Albany was present when the shot was fired. He was arrested with Rosenfield on the John Doe warrant.

Meredith says Rosenfield acted as though reaching for a revolver, and that he shot in self-defense. Rosenfield gambled frequently, and his reputation was that of a lottery agent.

STATE FISH HATCHERY

Commissioner Miles Getting Pointers From Other States.

Indianapolis, May 12.—State Fish and Game Commissioner George W. Miles went to Madison, Wis., today to begin a study of the Wisconsin fish hatcheries, with a view to adopting Wisconsin methods at proposed hatcheries in this state. Under the act of the recent general assembly concerning the powers of the fish and game commissioner, Miles must spend a minimum of one-fourth of the total proceeds of his office for the propagation of fish and game in the state. Heretofore the commissioner has spent approximately $15,000 a year in the propagation of game birds, and the effort is still in an experimental stage. Mr. Miles believes the state, with the exception of a few districts, is sufficiently stocked with game birds to show whether or not the transplanting of species will be a success, and he believes the birds should have time to show whether they will thrive in this climate before much more money is spent in that direction.

Under the new law the department will have approximately $12,000 a year for fish and game bird propagation, and Mr. Miles proposes to spend nearly all the money for two or three years in hatching fish. That the project can be carried on successfully has been proved by the Marion County Fish and Game Protective association, which is maintaining, with the help of the state department, two bass hatcheries, where hundreds of thousands of bass have been hatched and released in White river and other streams.

Following his trip to Wisconsin, Mr. Miles will visit the Michigan hatcheries, after which he will make a tour of the state to select sites for proposed hatcheries.

Richmond Dressing Up For Vets.

THE McNAMARA CASE

Prosecutor Says McManigal Will Not Be Called as Witness.

Los Angeles, May 12.—"Ottie E. McManigal will not be called as a witness in the trial of either of the McNamaras, and the various confessions which he has made perhaps will not be used against either of the two men on the murder charges," said District Attorney Fredericks. He declined to explain what he meant by the statement, but it is supposed that he has other evidence that he deems conclusive.

Murder Charge Against Widow.

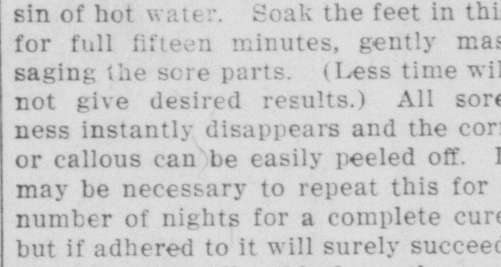

Marquette, Mich., May 12.—A coroner's jury at Greenland has returned a verdict declaring that Charles F. Stannard, a prominent business man of Ontonagon county, came to his death March 20 last as a result of poison administered by his wife, Laura Stannard. Mrs. Stannard is suffering from nervous prostration and has not been arrested. That her husband committed suicide will be her defense.

MUSHROOM CORNS

Most Painful of All Foot Ailments.

How to Cure Them.

The Mushroom corn is so called from its pitted cone top, resembling a tiny mushroom. It burrows deep into the toe and gets more inflamed than other corns. For the quick relief and cure of these and all corns and callouses the following is the most effective remedy known to science: Dissolve 2 tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of hot water. Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently massaging the sore parts. (Less time will not give desired results.) All soreness instantly disappears and the corn or callous can be easily peeled off. It may be necessary to repeat this for a number of nights for a complete cure, but if adhered to it will surely succeed. A little olive oil rubbed on the part is very beneficial. This Calocide is a very remarkable preparation for all foot ailments and is no longer confined to doctors' use. Any druggist has it in stock or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is usually sufficient to put the worst feet in fine condition. Bad smelling feet and tender feet need only a few treatments, likewise with inflamed bunions. This item will be welcomed by persons who have tried ineffectual powders and tablets.

Lesson VII.—Second Quarter, For May 14, 1911.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Isa. vi, 1-12. Memory Verses, 6-8—Golden Text, Isa. vi, 8—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

We saw in last week's lesson that Uzziah, king of Judah, was evidently much helped by a prophet named Zechariah, who had visions of God. And now we see in this lesson that Isaiah received his commission in connection with a vision of God. It was so with Ezekiel and Zechariah, who wrote the prophecy called by his name; also with Moses and Joshua and Gideon. Daniel also had a vision of God, and it was not until Job could say "Now mine eye seeth thee" that he received fullness of blessing. There is no vision of God or knowledge of God except through the Son of God, whom we know as Jesus Christ our Lord. No man knoweth the Father save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son will reveal Him. No man cometh unto the Father but by Me. He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father (Matt. xi, 27; John xiv, 6, 9). We are not fully qualified for service until we have so seen God in Christ that no mortal man is big enough to come between Him and our soul's vision. The Lord alone must be seen and exalted, and we must cease from man (Isa. li, 14, 15, 22).

In the year that King Uzziah died Isaiah saw a throne and a king who liveth forever, who said to John in Patmos, "I was dead, and behold I am alive forevermore" (Rev. i, 18). This same John, quoting from our lesson chapter and referring to this vision, said, "These things said Isaiah when he saw His glory and spoke of Him" (John xii, 41). Notice that the one whom Isaiah saw on the throne is called Lord (capital L, small ord), not the same as LORD in verses 3, 5, 12, where the name is all capitals. The former is "Adonal," my master, my proprietor, the one who owns me, whereas the latter is "Jehovah," the great "I am," who was and is and is to be the Creator as my Redeemer. If any mortal man owns us and he dies we may be in sore distress, but if the one whose we are and whom we serve is the ever living man on the throne then we will have peace always.

It is a very great lesson to learn to see no man any more save Jesus only with ourselves (Mark ix, 8). Isaiah saw the seraphim close to the throne, whereas Ezekiel and John saw cherubim (Ezek. i, 10; Rev. iv, 6; Ezek. x, 20). We know from Rev. v, 9, 10, and the association of the cherubim with the mercy seat and the veil that they represent the glorified redeemed from among the nations. The seraphim may represent the same as they only, seraphim and cherubim, cry holy, holy, holy. They look forward to and speak of the time when the earth shall be full of His glory. Covering face and feet with their wings suggests that it is not what we are or what we do that counts for anything, but with the wings that fly we must soar higher, even as on eagles' wings, and behold only Himself. The face indicates character, what we are, and the feet our walk, what we do, but our only comfort is in what He is and what He does.

The effect of this vision of the glory of the Lord upon the prophet was that he saw himself as wholly undone and unclean. This is what we need—such a vision of the beauty of the Lord that we shall forever hate and abhor ourselves and see ourselves as sinners in His sight. According to Isa. lxiv, 6; Dan. x, 8; Rom. vii, 18; 3:19. Thus seeing ourselves we shall have no condemnation for other sinners, nothing but the compassion of Jesus Christ. When there is this deep and thorough conviction of sin, then it is a short road to forgiveness and cleansing, for He came to save sinners, and His blood cleanseth from all sin. Note that heavenly agency does it all, iniquity is taken away, sin purged, the sinner is perfectly helpless, as were Adam and Eve when the Lord God made coats of skins and clothed them.

It is our privilege to know that He has by Himself purged our sins and is now on the right hand of the Majesty on high (Heb. i, 3). Then we are ready to hear the voice from the throne saying, "Whom shall I send, and who will go for us?" Notice the "I" and "us," the one living and true God in the three persons of Father, Son and Holy Spirit. Was ever such a wonderful commission offered to mortals as to represent the Trinity before men? See in John xiv, 17, 23, how they are said to dwell in the believer and in II Cor. iv, 10, 11, that the life of Jesus is to be made manifest in these mortal bodies.

We have only to yield and obey. The power is His, and the life is His, and the message is His, and He will take care of the results, and we are assured that He will not fail nor be discouraged (Isa. xlii, 4). It is ours to receive the message from Himself, receive His words in our hearts and then in His name "Go tell" (verse 9; Ezek. iii, 10, 11, 17). In the closing verses of the chapter the prophet was told that the message would not be received. So it was with Jeremiah and Ezekiel. They were warned that their messages would provoke great opposition, but they were to speak whether men would hear or not. See also Matt. x, 16-18; John xv, 18, 19.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning May 14, 1911.

Topic.—The universal duty of making pledges.—Ps. lxi, 5-8. (Led by the lookout committee.) Edited by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

There is abundant evidence in the Scriptures that vows or pledges are acceptable to God and helpful to man. It was not an unusual thing for the most consecrated godly men to make vows unto God, and in many instances the people of God are exhorted to vow unto Him. Testimonies are also to be found showing that God heard the vows and had respect unto them. The psalmist in the topical reference gives us such testimony when he says, "For thou, O God, hast heard my vows." Whatever vows he had made in the past had been accepted, and he was thus encouraged to make still further requests.

The universal duty of making pledges is suggested by the fact that there seems to be an instinct in man to make pledges or vows under certain conditions. When some special favor has been received or some forbearance exercised on man's behalf he desires to show his gratitude, to do something that he would not ordinarily have done, and he makes a vow unto God, sacredly promising to offer some gift or to perform some service, or perhaps even more naturally and more frequently the vow is made in the hope of some benefit desired, and its fulfillment is conditional upon a petition being favorably answered. This natural tendency of man to make vows is universal and strongly indicates that it is his duty to do so—that God expects it of him. God does expect us to make pledges unto Him and especially that we should take His Son, Jesus Christ, as our Saviour and pledge to Him ourselves and our all. Until we thus consecrate ourselves to Christ we have not fulfilled the desire of God concerning us.

The duty of paying vows, of keeping pledges, should be apparent to all. It is emphasized in the Scriptures. "When thou vowest a vow unto God, defer not to pay it, for He hath no pleasure in fools." "Defer not to pay it." There may be no intention of breaking the vow, but how easy it is to defer the payment! But there should be no postponement. Delay in the performance of duty never makes it easier or more agreeable. The sooner we do that which ought to be done the better. There is always danger in delay. The passing of time lessens the force of duty upon us, while, on the other hand, if we promptly and cheerfully face the duty of the hour, incurred by solemn promise, we will likely be surprised at the ease with which it may be performed.

The psalmist kept his pledge. He paid his vows promptly and cheerfully. "I will sing praise unto Thy name, that I may daily perform my vows." As Endeavorers let us keep the pledge that we have given to Christ as it pertains to the society and all its works. As Christians let us redeem our vows of personal consecration to Christ in the daily life that we are living, and if in time of distress or trouble we have made special vows unto God let us not defer or refuse their payment.

BIBLE READINGS.

Gen. xxviii, 18-20; Josh. xxiv, 14, 15; Job xxii, 27; Ps. xxii, 25; I, 14; cxvi, 12-19; Isa. xix, 21; Eccl. v, 1-5; Jonah ii, 1-10; Acts xviii, 18.

Coming Back.

A graphic phrase has recently come into vogue. We have heard much of late of athletes who can "come back" after defeat and loss of vigor and regain their old power and success on the football field or the baseball diamond.

It has been said a thousand times that Jeffries, the brutal prizefighter, whose hopes of gain through the moving pictures of the fight were blasted by the Christian Endeavorers, couldn't "come back" to fighting trim after his years of luxurious living and dissipation.

The phrase is even applied to politics, and there are many guesses as to whether a certain ex-president can "come back" to power and popularity after the defeat of his party at the polls.

My question today is, Can a decadent Christian Endeavor society "come back?"

The causes for decadence in a Christian Endeavor society are obvious. They are the following:

1. Denominational opposition, which has transformed some thousands of societies into strictly denominational organizations, thus withdrawing them from the interdenominational fellowship.

2. Another cause of decline is lack of spiritual life in church and community. The only remedy for this is a revival of religion, or at least of spiritual interest even if there is no widespread evangelistic effort.

3. The removal of influential young people from the community who go away to college or elsewhere sometimes leaves a society leaderless for a time, and naturally the society suffers.

4. The indifference or hostility of the pastor deadens and sometimes kills a society. But a pastor often gets a new vision of the possibilities of a society or he does not always stay with the same church.

The moral of all this is that there is no hopeless situation for a society of Christian Endeavor.—F. E. Clark, D. D.

Piles Can Be Cured for 10c

If you have spent dollar after dollar for apparatus and medicine, you may deem it peculiar that you can be instantly relieved and probably cured for a dime. But it is a fact, and after you can prove it with a 10-cent box of Plex, "the quick-healing salve." The results will make you regret that you never tried before.

Plex is a wonder-working, penetrating ointment that destroys germs, cleans and heals like magic. A big box for 10 cents, and it has a hundred uses in every home.

One application cures itching piles. A few more applications cure sore, aching feet, and produce eye-opening results in eczema, dandruff or other skin diseases. Splendid for sore, stiff muscles. Unequaled for cuts, burns, etc. Plex costs only a dime, and it's the biggest household bargain you were ever offered. Your druggist has it, or can easily get it for you. Sent prepaid on receipt or price by the O. C. Co., Terre Haute, Ind.

LABOR LEADER GIVES UP SLUGGERS' NAMES

He Is Tired of Operations of "Gun Men."

Chicago, May 12.—For the first time names of men hired by organized labor as professional "sluggers" and who, the police say, have been responsible for many murders and assaults in labor disputes in Chicago, have been given to the police. Twenty-four wreckers are employed by the plumbers and steamfitters, who are fighting each other. Detectives who have been detailed to capture the labor sluggers were given the list of names by Chief McSweeney and instructed to arrest the men at once.

"These names were furnished the police department by a labor leader who has become tired of the recent labor outrages," said a prominent police official. "Several labor leaders will aid the police in rounding up the sluggers, and I believe that within a month Chicago will get rid of its professional 'gun men.' Detectives will be hidden in buildings in course of construction where steamfitters and plumbers are apt to clash, and in this way the sluggers will be captured. Members of the motor cycle squad have been ordered to follow the auto containing those sluggers, and in time we hope to bring up this gang."

Deitz Defense Rests.

Hayward, Wis., May 12.—After an unsuccessful attempt to subpoena Edward Hines, president of the Hines Lumber company of Chicago, and according to John Deitz, the outward and visible sign of the "lumber trust despotism" which Deitz alleges has been persecuting him for years, the defense in the Deitz murder trial rested. The rebuttal of the prosecution likely will be brief.

Mother.

No day is more deserving of fitting observation than "Mothers Day" which will be next Sunday. There is no time when the people of the whole United States should more respect the commemoration of an event than on such a day. Every tender sentiment has arisen from a mother and it always with the deepest respect and regard that even the confirmed criminal speaks of the woman who gave him life. All America should pay a tribute to mother for she is the center of the home life which has made the United States the greatest country in the world.

To be more exact, all Rushville should observe the day and remember its true meaning. It is a tribute to motherhood that the day is remembered in such a manner. It is sufficient to prove that the mother has a very great influence on the present civilization and to her all honor is due.

The white carnation is a very appropriate flower to be used as an emblem of the day. It is suggestive of chastity, that which mother is always supposed to represent. Since the observation of the day is becoming more general each year, it is expedient that every Rushville person wear a white carnation on next Sunday. Carnations sent to your mother on the morning of the day is a very appropriate manner to observe the day and will no doubt bring joy into many homes and happiness to hearts that otherwise might be heavy.

We would not have the people of Rush county forget that it is expedient that the county have good roads. The two words good roads means that the roads should be good every day in the year, wet or dry. There are plenty of roads in Rush county that are good so long as the weather is good, but they go to the bad as soon as the weather does likewise. The problem of good roads is a perplexing one but it is being taken up by counties all over the United States and is being dealt with in a business like manner. It is generally conceded that the way to get the best results is to build right in the first place. Then there will be no further trouble.

Governor Marshall is now being denounced by labor organizations from one end of the country to the other for his action in the McNamara case. And with a home-made presidential boom on hand he was trying so hard to be a winning little demagogue! About all there will be left to remind the people of Indiana a little while hence will be a few hundred groceries opened by his activity, and they may not last very long.

The little girl who exclaimed "O, mama, I have swallowed a whole spoonful of sunshine," when the sun shone on the spoon which she was conveying to her mouth, all unconsciously taught a lesson that would repay any to learn. Lots of people put too little sunshine into their life; they need to frequently take big spoonfuls heaped up. As it is, they make a very face when someone tries to get them to take even homeopathic doses.

That a farmer is not justified in firing a load of shot at a boy whom he found in his strawberry patch is the verdict of a jury in Lake county. The farmer fired at the lad with a double barreled shot gun, and one hundred shots penetrated the boy's skin. He was disabled six months and the jury gave him $25 damages. The jury should feel proud of themselves.

The "farmers' free list" bill, as prepared by the southern political leaders under control of the house of representatives, is of course intended for political claptrap purposes. Its farmers know that no free trade bill of any sort would pass the senate. Buncombs always has been on the free list, and it is the stock in trade of some sorts of statesmen.

And now comes word that women all over Indiana are arranging to enter the fight against the adoption of Governor Marshall's hand-made new constitution. The fight will be led by the Woman's Franchise league. The position is taken that the new constitution would make it impossible for them even to secure the right to vote in Indiana.

Theodore Roosevelt (is mentioned for ambassador to Germany. This shows what a man's chances are if he is only willing to work a year as a newspaper reporter.

Chicago is going to celebrate Mothers day May 14. Mother will have to blister her hands getting up an extra good dinner for the occasion.

Florida watermelons have reached the Northern markets, and the demand for Jamaica ginger is encouraging to the trade.

Those Alaskans who threw the coal into the harbor seem to be taking rather radical means to avoid the smoke nuisance.

AMUSEMENTS

The Portola Photoplay will have the usual change of program tonight, showing two reels of pictures. The films are "The Faithful Heart" and "Coward or Hero." Both pictures are said to be exceptionally good. Besides the usual illustrated song Charles VanCamp will sing "April Eyes" as a special solo.

The Vandet theater will offer three reels of pictures tonight, containing four pictures. The Thanhouser drama, "The Mad Hermit," is said to be a thrill from start to finish as the principal character is enveloped in such a whirl of adventures that he scarcely escapes alive. The Itala film, "Servant and Tutor" is a drama of considerable worth. The Solax film contains two comic subjects, "The Old Excuse," and "The Scheme That Failed." They are both said to be very humorous.

The Palace will show two Lubin films tonight, both of which are said to be unusually good. "The Test" is a drama in which two suitors seek the hand of a young woman. By an act of charity in which members of her own family are benefited, one of the rivals wins favor and eventually a bride. "Their Mother-in-Law" is a comedy. It so happened that the mothers of a young couple came for a visit at the same time. They fight and fuss until the young couple is driven from the new home. The incidents are very humorous.

The Star Grand will present two good pictures tonight. The first is an Imp entitled "The Convert." It is intensely dramatic. It deals with a young lieutenant and his sweetheart; the lieutenant is sent to the Philippines and is erroneously reported dead. His broken hearted fiancée enters a convent and takes the vows. The lover returns and from that point onward the action will simply enthrall the most calloused moving picture "fan." The second picture is a rip-roaring Powers comedy entitled "An Unforeseen Complication." An old professor mesmerizes a student; their souls commune in the air, get mixed and locate in the wrong bodies. Can you guess what happens. Try, and then see this "hit." Earl Robertson will sing "Springtime Brings Roses and You."

Efforts to Secure Special Car Fail—Subjects and Names of Other Contestants.

About thirty local high school students left this afternoon for Frankfort to attend the annual State oratorical contest, which will be held to-night in the Blinn theater there. It was at first thought a special car would be chartered, but there were not enough to warrant this. The students have appointed Charles Todd yell leader and have been practicing for several days. They expect to make as much noise as the other schools and if rooting will do any good Miss Frazee should win easily.

The Rushville delegation will occupy the first rows in the balcony, and this is said to be a very desirable position. Crawfordville won the contest last year and Rushville is due to win as the best the local high school ever got was second place. The local representative has a good declamation and should make a strong bid for first place.

The schools, speakers and their subjects will be: Frankfort, Miss Hazel Manger, "The Predatory Rich;" Crawfordville, Harry Black, "Blaine's Oration on Garfield;" Rushville, Miss Frances Frazee, "The Battle of Gettysburg;" Noblesville, Albert Tucker, "The New South;" Lebanon, Harry Budd, "The March of the Flag;" Lafayette, Miss Annette Click, "Toussaint L'Ouverture."

EXPECT MUCH OF ALCYFRAS

Local Admirers of Roan Mare Believe She Will Make Record.

Much is expected of Alcyfras, the little roan pacing mare in the stable of Harrie Jones, who will be taken down the big circuits this season with the local trainer and driver on the sulky. She was worked a mile in twenty the other day which is considered very good for this time, no more work that she has been given. Local admirers of the mare are predicting great things for her this season and some are so enthusiastic that they believe she will get in the two minute class. She approached that enviable place last year when she reduced her mark to 2:03 1/4.

The invitations to the annual Junior reception to the Senior class of the high school, which have been issued, are as simple as they are unique. The white cardboard on the front contains "Class 1911" in bold black letters while at the bottom is the date, May 17, 1911. On the back page is printed in similar type, "Class 1912." The invitation on the inside is as follows:

You, so I hear,
Are a Senior this year.
If so, we request,
At the Junior love fest,
Your presence austere.
And where will it be?
Certainly not in a tree,
Nor even at Rome,
But in the home
Of Miss Geraghty.

The culmination of another happy romance which had its beginning in and around the pretty little town of Blue Ridge, occurred Wednesday night when Miss Fay Marshall, aged eighteen years, became the bride of George Fessler, aged twenty-two years, says the Shelbyville Democrat. The bride, who is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leona Marshall of Blue Ridge, is very well

CHESTER

CHAPTER XXIII.

A SHARP wall, as of an animal in sudden torture, burst from the lips of Henry Breed. He started forward, shaking and trembling, the veins on his leathern old face starting out like whipcords. He raised both his clinched fists and opened his mouth to speak, but no words came.

Speech was supplied on the instant, however, by Sumner Rollins. "By heaven, no!" he cried. "I knew that you contemplated some folly, Kelvin, but never that you had in your crazed mind a crime so great as this or I should either have impeached you as a traitor or had you imprisoned as a lunatic. Hear me, you men! Let no word of this proclamation get beyond this room as you value your lives."

"Arrest that man!" shouted Kelvin. "Arrest me if you dare!" cried Rollins. "I am going from this room a free man, and I will show you that patriotism and the love of liberty in the United States are neither dead nor asleep. In every village and upon every farm there still dwells the immortal spirit of our forefathers. Kelvin, I am going out of here to face you with an army which can defeat any politically made army in the world, an army fighting for the sacred and undefeatable causes of home and country and freedom. I shall issue such a call that every unflinching descendant of every true American will swing into line to sweep this colossal folly back into the fourteenth century, where it belongs, and to make a by-word and a laughingstock of the name of Phillip Kelvin—emperor!"

The guards who had advanced toward Rollins had hesitated upon his outburst, and in that moment of his righteous fury, standing stern and stalwart with his eyes flashing, he was commanding enough to have halted any underling. Now, however, the guards looked to Kelvin, and he struck his knuckles impatiently upon the table. Elsie White upon Kelvin's plunge into his proclamation had stepped back to the door, where she now stood directly back of Rollins. As the latter spoke she had put her hands behind her and quietly turned the key. Now she plucked Rollins by the sleeve.

"Hurry! Go!" she whispered. She pulled open the door and thrust Rollins through it before he had more than half comprehended her intention; then she slammed it shut, turned the key in the lock and slipped the key into the neck of her gown just as the guards and Sam threw themselves upon the door.

"Miss White, I will give you thirty seconds in which to produce that key," came the cold voice of Kelvin.

She looked back at him steadily, but made no move. Kelvin drew his watch from his pocket. A tense silence settled in the room. Finally he slipped his timepiece back into his pocket.

"Will you give it up?" he demanded. Now his voice was trembling.

She shook her head.

"Sam, take it."

The blood that had left Elsie's face suddenly surged up crimson as Sam approached her, but except to clasp her hands over her breast she did not move, nor did she take her eyes from Kelvin. He himself turned, half

NO REASON FOR IT

When Rushville Citizens Show the Way.

There can be no just reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the dangers of serious kidney ills when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that these ills can be cured. Read what a Rushville citizen says:

Mrs. W. A. Wylie, 824 N. Arthur St., Rushville, Ind., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in our family and we have found them to be a splendid remedy for kidney complaint. A member of our family suffered from attacks of backache for several years, the trouble being caused by disordered kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to our attention and thinking they might prove of benefit, we procured a supply at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store. The use of two boxes entirely relieved the backache and strengthened the kidneys. I publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills at that time and I still take pleasure in saying a good word for them."

nauseated, but the word of an emperor was out. She shuddered as Sam put his enormous hands upon her, but she defended the key as best she could with her puny strength. There was a brief struggle, then Sam sprang from Elsie and inserted the key in the lock, though Rollins by that time was in his automobile and speeding away toward the Maryland line.

Elsie staggered back a pace against the wall for support, still with those large eyes fixed upon Kelvin. Across the width of the room he gazed into them and saw die there every last lingering trace, from every corner of her heart, of the love and affection that had for many years been a part of its fiber. She sank fainting to the floor. Two or three ran to revive her, but Lillian was not among them.

In the midst of that confusion Henry Breed found his voice. "You shan't have it!" he cried. "You shan't have my money. I'll resist to the last ditch. You can't get into the vault. I'll hire a million assassins to kill you. I—I was to be emperor! I was to be emperor!" His face was scarlet, and there were flecks of foam upon his lips.

His granddaughter put her hand upon his shoulder. "Never mind, grandfather," she said contemptuously. "Remember that it's all in the family."

She glided up to the desk before Phillip. "My emperor, I salute you," she said, smiling up at him, and from his desk she picked up the dagger. "Here it is, your talisman that twice threatened your life. Do you remember how once, holding it point up like this, you declared that in this sign you would conquer? It represented then, as it does now, the tips of ten thousand glittering sword points, of a million glittering bayonets. I believed in you then, as I do now, and declared that I, too, would reign. In this sign we conquer!" and with a hysterical laugh she raised the dagger aloft.

Kelvin looked down upon her in sudden fury. He had not forgiven her for enticing him to the forgetfulness of his great principle that to acquire success he must have no entanglements with women; he had not forgiven her his entrapment into a marriage avowal; he had not forgiven her the death of that love which he had seen die out of Elsie White's eyes.

"For some time to come," said he with quiet suppression, "I expect to reign alone."

"Then, your majesty," she said to him mockingly, "I have only to ask you that you guarantee me safe exit from the palace."

His face flushed at this first trace of ridicule to be heaped upon his pretensions to royalty, but his voice was grave and even enough as he strove to establish dignity. "You have my word for that," said he.

"Then," she cried as she sprang back from his desk toward the door that was still open, "I shall keep this little souvenir until I have a chance to present it to you again," and she thrust the dagger into her belt. "Do you know what I am going to do? I am about to turn revolutionist; I am about to become the Jeanne d'Arc of America; I am about to join George Blagg's army and finance it and lead it!" And with a shrill laugh she swept out of the door.

There was a moment of paralyzed silence, and then through the corridor they heard her voice, loud and clear and wild, singing the "Marseillaise." She swept out through the entrance and down between the ranks of those bronzed mountaineer soldiers. Marching with martial tread, she sang the song of blood clear through their ranks. The news of its singing flashed along wires and across pulsating, electrified spaces. In every city in the United States that mighty, rousing song was caught up, and the land vibrated with one accord to its rhythm and grew wild with its frenzy. In one day America had an emperor, and its national song had become the "Marseillaise!"

At midnight Phillip I. sat in the observation tower he had caused to be built upon the roof of the White House watching, waiting. Even the sudden harsh clatter of a bell within the apartment did not disturb him from his statue-like rigidity. Sam rose and picked up the telephone from a little table in the corner.

"It's General Rensselaer, huh," he said. "He wants to see you all on very 'pawt' business."

"Tell them to let him come up," directed Kelvin without turning his head. He had accomplished in succession all his specious aims until now. From ocean to ocean for seven days there had existed a state of tense, taut strain. What violence, what carnage, what hideous saturnalia of bloodshed

MONEY BACK

Hyomei Cures Catarrh Without Stomach Dosing, or Money Back.

Yes, dear reader, catarrh can be cured; but not by pouring vile, nauseating drugs into the stomach.

And catarrh germs thrive, flourish and multiply in the nose and throat. Can you kill these tough and persistent little health destroyers by swallowing pills or nostrum? Any physician will tell you it cannot be done.

HYOMEI (pronounced High-o-me) is a germ killer vaporized air which, when breathed either through the mouth or nose, will kill catarrh germs and soothe and heal the inflamed and mutilated membrane promptly. It gives relief in two minutes.

HYOMEI is such a powerful germ destroyer that it penetrates every fold and crevice of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat.

A complete outfit, which includes inhaler, a bottle of Hyomei and simple instructions for use, costs $1.00.

Should you need a second bottle of HYOMEI the price is only 50c. F. B. Johnson & Co., and leading druggists everywhere sell HYOMEI.

might break forth at any moment no one knew, but in the meantime he, Phillip Kelvin, who but a few brief years before had possessed not a dollar and scarce a friend, was still emperor of America! Emperor—Phillip I. What vast conquests might yet lie before him!

His preparations for handling this present situation were excellently laid. In or near every center of population were massed well drilled soldiers able to combat and to quell any insurrection. There might be a revolt more or less systematized, but it could do very little against the systematic resistance that Kelvin had devised. He had planned wisely for a reorganization of social conditions, and when the country was once more reorganized upon a self sustaining basis, where every man had an equal chance for sustenance and moderate accumulation, the larger dreams might materialize, the real victories might begin.

The conquest and annexation of Canada and Mexico would come next and coextensive with this the building up of the largest navy in the world. Europe, that vast tissue of states bound by a flimsy filament called "the balance of power," could be disintegrated by a single shot, thrown into a turmoil of cross purposes that would render its individual masses easy prey. With each new victory would come more strength, and his imperial progress might sweep on and on until the entire world, from pole to pole and from ocean to ocean, might be bound together under his resistless sway, linked in a brotherhood of universal peace and prosperity and equality, with himself as the benign dictator!

Crispily up the steps came Herbert Rensselaer.

"How ghastly it is up here!" said he. "Why don't you have some light?"

"That is a peculiar question for the commander in chief of the imperial army to ask," replied Kelvin with a smile.

Rensselaer himself smiled.

"It would make you whereabouts rather conspicuous," he admitted, "but under the circumstances it might be well to turn on the lights and leave them burning. We shall be away from here in a few minutes."

"Forest Lakes?" asked Kelvin with quick interest. "At last! We should have made that expedition a week ago."

"My organization was not perfect

Rheumatism Comes From Bad Kidneys

Once Your Kidneys Work Properly, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease and Bladder Trouble Disappear. How To Cure Yourself.

It is no longer necessary to spend months and months undergoing a complicated treatment for rheumatism, kidney or bladder trouble, or spend a good many dollars in doctors' bills. A new treatment can now be obtained which seems to act more like a marvel than a medicine. This treatment has produced such satisfactory results in a short time that it is now guaranteed from first to last.

There should be no more doubt about the rapid cure of rheumatism, no fears of the fatal termination of treacherous kidney disease or dropsy. Rheumatism means nothing more nor less than that your kidneys do not work properly. Your blood passes through the kidneys hundreds of times a day to be filtered and purified. When the kidneys are weak, the poisons are not taken out of the blood as they should be. This leads to various diseases, such as rheumatism, terrible Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy and bladder trouble.

The new guaranteed treatment is Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills. One day's use of them will prove their remarkable effect. M. T. Ridenour of Lima, Ohio, says: "When I feel bad in my back, I just take a couple of Derby's Kidney Pills and get immediate relief."

If you have rheumatism anywhere, back pains, cloudy, foul urine, pains in the bladder, Bright's disease or diabetes, put your whole confidence in Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills, and you will not be disappointed.

Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills are sold at all drug stores—25 and 50 cents, or we will send them direct from the laboratory of Derby Medicine Co., Eaton Rapids, Mich., prepaid if you wish. If you want to try them first, just ask your druggist to give you a free sample package.

enough," Rensselaer objected. "But we are quite prepared now. At every half mile between here and Breed's, by the time we are moving, there will be stationed a detachment large enough for protection. Each detachment as we come up to it will close in and follow behind us. I wish that it were not necessary to take you there. You should be here, where you can direct your campaign."

"I don't admire the trip myself," confessed Kelvin. "But outside of Henry Breed and his granddaughter and possibly Dr. Zephon I am the only person in the world who knows the exact location and the combinations of his vault and its billion and a half of cash. The greatest fear I have is that Breed may have changed the combination of his locks."

"I doubt if he was able to do so," returned Rensselaer. "He left here, upon the day of your proclamation, apparently in a state of almost complete paralysis, attended by Dr. Zephon, my aunt, Jens Nelson and Elsie White."

"By Elsie White?" Phillip repeated. "It's queer that she went along."

Herbert shrugged his shoulders. "Breed always liked her, and when Lillian left, with the threat to join George Blagg, Breed turned to Elsie like a child and insisted that she should not leave him."

Kelvin winced, and a great longing came over him. He, too, would have liked to have turned to Elsie White "like a child," but he was forever too late. His time for that was past.

"Everything seems dead," Rensselaer suddenly exclaimed. "It's getting on my nerves, this thing of waiting and waiting. Seven days ago, at exactly 12 o'clock noon, George Blagg's army of a million was suddenly to pour out of the ground, from New York to San Francisco and from Duluth to New Orleans, a wild, ferocious horde that, frothing at the mouth, was to sweep all law and all order before it, to grind it into dust, and to leave it but a red memory. We were prepared at that hour. Every regiment of our army stood at arms and ready. For a hundred and eighty hours the army and you and I have been waiting, waiting, waiting, all at that high tension, and nothing has happened—nothing!"

A WAR-TIME BULLET CLAIMS ITS BILLET

Little Lad Victim of Grandpa's Old Army Musket.

Mincola, N. Y., May 12.—Once more the old army musket, rusty and forgotten in the garret, has collected its toll. Two boys, Ned and Tom Richards, aged four and five respectively, who live at Happpague, were playing in the garret of their home. Rummaging among the old trunks and things, they found the old musket. It had been carried by their grandfather during the civil war and members of the family had forgotten its existence.

But the boys dug it out. They also found an old cap and a cape that had been worn in many battles. Then the war game began. In some way which Tom can't explain, he pulled the trigger. It was loaded. Fred was wounded in the breast. The doctor thinks he may recover.

PASTOR'S LIFE IS NEARING END

The Rev. Joseph Franklin, Former Minister in Rush County is Not Expected to Live Long.

IS RELATED IN THIS CITY

For a Number of Years Was Pastor of Plum Creek and Fairview
 Christian Churches.

The Rev. Joseph Franklin, for fifty-two years a minister of the Christian church in Indiana, for a number of years the pastor of the Plum Creek and Fairview Christian churches is believed to be dying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Black in Anderson. The Rev. Mr. Franklin is an uncle of Mrs. Edward Billings of East Eighth street. Miss Stella Franklin, a daughter, who is a missionary in India, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Billings here last summer. The Rev. Mr. Franklin is a victim of paralysis and it was not believed that he would live during the day. Since the second stroke which he suffered while visiting at the Black home in Anderson, he has been in a comatose state.

Since the death of his wife at Alexandria, January 4, 1910, the venerable preacher, now in his seventy-seventh year, has been living with his children, most of the time being with the family of his daughter, Mrs. Grace Homan of Cleveland, O. About three weeks ago Mr. Franklin returned from Cleveland for the purpose of visiting a cemetery where his wife and one daughter rest. He had not seen their graves, being sick and unable to attend the burial of his wife.

Paralysis, however, prevented the aged preacher's visit to the cemetery. After spending a few hours at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Black he expressed a wish to go to the cemetery. A carriage was provided and Mr. Franklin was in the act of stepping into the carriage when he grew faint and soon was prostrated by paralysis. His children in Madison county have been advised of their father's condition, but that he is being well cared for. Two daughters are missionaries in India.

"The History of the Central Christian Church" of Anderson, compiled by Charles R. Cravens, gives the most authentic information concerning the career of the Rev. Joseph Franklin. He was born near Middletown, Ind., September 13, 1834, and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Franklin, who were buried in West Maplewood cemetery, Anderson.

At the age of twelve young Franklin began work in the office of his father, who published the Western Reformer, which was merged with the Christian Age at Cincinnati. Mr. Franklin, therefore, had early training in printing and publishing, although he turned to the pulpit. He joined the Christian church in 1849, and was baptized by the Rev. D. S. Burnett. Sarah E. Van Hook of Covington, Ky., became the wife of Joseph Franklin, when he was only nineteen years old. Twelve children were born; seven survive. They are: Joseph and Stella, missionaries in India; Mildred, living in the West, formerly a missionary in India; Grace, at Cleveland, O.; Walter and Emmet Franklin in Indiana. Two sons, Walter and Riley, met violent deaths, one being killed by a railroad train and the other in a factory.

Joseph Franklin began to preach in 1854, touring the northwestern part of Indiana with a colporteur preacher. After teaching school a short time at Oxford, Benton county, the Rev. Mr. Franklin took charge of a Christian church at West Lebanon, in Warren county, but his first real charge, according to Mr. Cravens, was at Lafayette in 1859. Later he resumed teaching school and was for eighteen years a teacher. Eleven years were spent in Anderson. There he organized the first graded normal school.

In 1861 he resumed preaching, taking charge of a church at Covington, Ky., but returned to Anderson in 1862, when Anderson had only 1,800 inhabitants and the Christian church only sixty-five members. Between the years 1862 and 1886, he served intermittently fourteen years as pastor in Anderson. He then moved to Bedford, where he was pastor of the Christian church twelve years. He returned to Anderson in 1904 and went to Alexandria in 1909.

The Franklin family homestead for several years was on a small farm, which became an addition to Anderson. This addition was named Franklin and it has a Franklin street. The last residence of the Franklin family in Franklin street was just prior to the removal to Alexandria.

In recent years the Rev. Joseph Franklin compiled an autobiography of the Franklin family. After tracing his ancestry back to 1855, Mr. Franklin by penmanship that suggested copper plate engraving, made a condensed review of his research.

SUFFERS SOME INJURY.

Miss Merl Stewart, daughter of Mrs. Martin Stewart, of Moscow, fell while playing yesterday afternoon in an old buggy and dislocated her right shoulder. Dr. Inlow of Blue Ridge was called and reduced the dislocation and a short time afterwards the child felt and again suffered the same injury.

REBEKAHS INITIATE.

Greensburg News: Thirty-five members of the Rebekah order went up to Milroy last night and assisted in the initiation of fifteen candidates. The work was followed by several interesting speeches and wound up with a grand banquet. The Milroy folk are good entertainers and a highly enjoyable evening was spent by all.

FALL PROVES FATAL.

Following the taking of a dose of headache powders for a severe headache, Mrs. George Davis of Middletown, Henry county, fell and struck her head on a step, cutting a deep gash in her forehead. She died soon afterward. A husband and four daughters survive her.
